Lauretta Newby-Coker, a Choctaw citizen and longtime Noble resident, creates stained glass mosaics and mixed media art as well as water color and oil paintings. Newby-Coker's pieces embody happiness through impressionistic style and subject matter.

Newby-Coker's art is on display across the United States, including a mural in Hesperia, California, a stained-glass mosaic in Norman, Oklahoma, multiple pieces at the Choctaw Regional Health Center in Durant, Oklahoma and more. Her pieces have earned awards from the Choctaw Heritage Award at the Labor Day Festival to Best of Division at the Cherokee Art Market.

Newby-Coker specializes in stained glass mosaics, mixed media, water color and oil painting.
